My Task & Make the Ask

This activity will allow members to:
- Engage with leaders in the community.
- Improve communication skills.
- Practice active listening.

Materials needed:
- One printed worksheet per member. Download them at kkids.org/IDEA.
- Pens or pencils

How to lead this activity:

Learn how to make a connection with a leader in the community!

Before the meeting, complete a My Task worksheet for each member who volunteered to contact a community organization. Use the worksheets from the Let’s Get Help! activity on pages 30–32 of the IDEA guide. Give the completed My Task worksheets to the proper students at the start of the meeting.

1. Give every member a Make the Ask worksheet.
2. Tell members with a My Task worksheet that they have the role of “interviewer.”
3. Tell all other members that they have the role of “responder.” This means they will pretend to be an organization employee.
4. Ask members to form groups. Here’s how:
   a. Ask all interviewers to raise their hand.
   b. Ask responders to form groups with at least one interviewer in each. (For example, if you have four interviewers and your club has 16 members, you can form four groups of four.)
5. Ask interviewers to complete the Make the Ask worksheet, using their My Task worksheet.
6. Ask responders to complete the Make the Ask worksheet based on their interviewer’s information.
7. Give members time to practice their scripts.
8. Explain the next steps interviewers should take:
   a. Take your Make the Ask worksheet home and let your parent or guardian know what you signed up to do.
   b. Practice your script with your parent or guardian.
   c. Ask your parent or guardian to help you reach out to your assigned organization.
   d. Be prepared to report back to club advisors and let the club know how it went.
   e. Don’t be disappointed if you cannot reach someone or someone says no. Just by doing this activity, you’re learning new skills.
9. When the activity is over, thank everyone for their time and participation.

Make the Ask

You've interviewed people in your community and/or school about community needs. Now it's time to ask about the service need chosen by your club. With fellow members, create a script to use to invite experts to share their knowledge.
