

THE POWER OF NICE

A close-up photograph of a hand holding a large, bright green apple. Another hand is visible from the top right, reaching towards the apple. The background is plain white.

Making kindness catchy

One good deed leads to another

As a K-Kid, you set an example. You probably know that from your club's activities and projects—and the way they help your community.

But sometimes, your most important good deeds are the things you do every day. Maybe you helped someone pick up stuff he or she dropped. Or you did something at home without being asked.

Even better, you can pass on your kindness. When you do something nice, someone else could see it ... and feel inspired to do something too!

That's the power of nice.

Cut out the next page and fold it along the lines. Then use the categories to write down things you could do for the different people in your life.

GOOD DEED IDEAS

Write down some nice things you can do for others.

FRIENDS

BROTHER OR SISTER

PARENTS

Write down how the power of nice makes you feel.

TEACHERS

OTHER STUDENTS

GRANDPARENTS

